

Minerals and GEO

Sustainable mineral resources have risen up the agenda in Europe and Internationally:

- How should initiatives like GEO evolve to reflect that?
- What kind of observing system is needed to support these changes?
- And how can we work through initiatives like Copernicus to realise the key elements of that observing system?